

Japanese barberry's modern distribution and abundance in relation to 1934 land use at Highstead and in surrounding forestland. Note barberry's association with historically open fields, which today have reverted back to forest.